FRIDAY
NOVEMBER 5, 1954

Bought a thick loden cape with a rabbit collar, fit for a South Pole expedition. Cost about 70 dollars. Pure wool. Also a pork pie shooting hat at five dollars.

E. got up for lunch and we had it downstairs in the Ritz restaurant.

Tonight Nelson had a dinner at Horcher's for the Juan de Cardenas and Max Borrells. Cardenas, formerly Spanish Ambassador in Washington, is in his seventies and is head of the Foreign Service Institute. Lucienne Cardenas is a Roumanian, sister of Freddy Nano. We had melon, sole en goujon, escalope of veal -- all excellent. To bed at 2:00 a.m.
